

GiGi Bailey

GiGi Bailey and her husband, Robert Rahmlow, live in Maribel, Wi., just southeast of Green Bay. Together, they operate real estate holdings for their family trust. They also flip properties for an LLC that they own.

GiGi began showing horses as a child. She began training for the public at age 14. In the course of her career she has trained many Horses and riders to World Championships, Congress Championships, Honor Roll Champions, as well as AQHA youth and open Champions.

In her career, GiGi has shown 10 AQHA World Champions, 1 APHA World Champion, and 1 PHBA World Champion. As well as numerous Congress Champions and Reserve World Champions. She also has assisted in exhibiting 2 AQHA Superhorses as well as 1 reserve Superhorse.

GiGi holds judges cards for the NSBA, AQHA and APHA. She has been Honored to have judged the NSBA, AQHA and APHA World shows, as well as the Quarter Horse Congress. She judges an average of 23- 25 shows per year.

As an active and supportive member of the AQHA Gigi served on the AQHA Marketing Committee for many years. She served as the Committee Chair and Vice Chair. For the NSBA Gigi helped with the widely successful Boot Camps where she traveled throughout the country helping exhibitors become their best. For the WQHA Gigi served on the Show Committee as well as the Youth Committee. Gigi is grateful to all of the wonderful Associations which offer so much for both horses and exhibitors.
